FROM THE STUDIO

Most businesses don't need another vendor.

They need a team that understands the whole machine: the brand people see, the funnel that finds them, and the software running quietly behind it. When those three are built by different people who never talk, growth leaks out of the gaps.

That is why Klentec exists. We put designers, marketers and engineers in one room, and we put the founder on every project. Your brand, your campaigns and your product are designed to work together from day one.

We also refuse to start from a template. Every engagement begins with a conversation about where you want to go, and ends with a proposal written for you alone. Sometimes that is a logo. Sometimes it is a full fintech platform. Usually it is something in between that grows over time.

This issue is our field guide: who we are, what we build, and how we work. If something here sounds like the piece your business is missing, I'd like to hear about it.

Team Klentec

KLENTEC DIGITAL SOLUTIONS

FEATURE

We build digital machines.

Klentec Digital Solutions is a full-service digital studio from Noida, India. We design brands, run growth marketing, produce content, and engineer the software that turns attention into revenue.

A digital machine is anything that keeps working for your business after we hand it over: a website that converts while you sleep, an app your customers open every week, a WhatsApp flow that answers leads in seconds, an ad account that pays for itself.

Most companies assemble these one freelancer at a time. The designer never meets the developer; the marketer inherits a site they can't track. We built Klentec to remove those seams, so strategy, creative and code are planned together.

Our work spans startups launching their first product and established businesses modernising how they sell. We have shipped for legal practices, fashion and jewellery brands, SaaS products, consumer delivery services and marketplaces, and we work with clients in India and abroad.

What ties it together is ownership. The founder scopes every project, stays on it through launch, and remains the person you call afterwards.

"We don't sell services. We build systems that keep working after we leave the room."

Design

Brand identity, creative, video and UX that make you look established from day one.

Growth

Social, performance ads, SEO and automation that bring customers in and keep them.

Engineering

Websites, apps, AI, fintech and cloud infrastructure built to scale.

HOW WE'RE DIFFERENT

The Klentec code.

Every agency promises quality. These are the rules we actually run on, and you will feel them from the first call.

01

No Templates

Every website, app and campaign starts from a blank canvas, designed around your business and your customers. Nothing is reskinned.

02

Founder-Led Delivery

The person who scopes your project stays accountable for it until launch. No hand-off to a team you have never met.

03

Custom-Scoped Proposals

You get a proposal written around your goals, timeline and budget, not a fixed package bent to fit.

04

One team, full stack

Brand, marketing and engineering are planned together, so your ads land on pages built to convert and your app ships with a launch plan.

24-Hour Web Dev

When the launch can't wait, we design, build and ship a website in a day — still custom, still yours.
